California.—Dates to December 3. One of the San Prancisco papers says:—

In munical and theatrical matters the city has been remarkably well represented. At the American, the Rarel troupe have drawn crowded houses up to the last day of Nevrember, when they took their deperture for Sacramento, where they will give a series of performances, and perhaps make a tour to some of the interior towns. The Misses Goughenheim have been playing at the Metropolitan to fair houses. The late benefit of Miss Joey was well attended. Acrobatic performances at the Union theatre have been parsely attended, the performers being Professor Risley, PFEVani, the India rubber man, and others. At the San Prancisco Hall, Eph. Horn and his troup are giving Ethiopian concerts, and are awaiting the arrival of a celebrated troupe from New York, with whom some of the party will join. Bignors Garbato has been well received in a few concerts, but as yet she has made no decided hit. Mrs. Sinciart is playing at Sacramento. The other musical and theatrical stand-bys are centered throughout the interior, or are residing at San Francisco. An attempt at Italian opera, with George Loder as conductor, folled through some misunderstanding with Signors. Garbato. The Raticular to playing at Sacramento. The other musical and theatrical stand-bys are centered throughout the interior, or are residing at San Francisco. An attempt at Italian opera, with George Loder as conductor, folled through some misunderstanding with Signors. Garbato. The Raticular at its birth. Our Atlantic readers will thus see that though we have the germ of every species at an uncernent among us, from the grand opera down to peep shows, only a few are realizing a living. There is no dealth that this public is as hard to please as any in dancies. Cuty the best is patronized. Thus, the Ravels are reforming to crowded houses every night. Beal artistic meet will ever be liberally encouraged here, but the day has passed when "anything will do for California."

chan he has appeared. It is wonderful that against such odds Jullian would dare to take the field of "enter-tainment," but his tart and great renown is adequate to any attempt, and he has given has annual concerts with undminished success. It is useless to say with greater, for Covent Garden Opers House has always been crammed to replation, and it is so this year. There is no question that his audiences are more enthusiants than ever, for he has given them a musical representation of the tail of Schausopol, which has aroused the patriotic sensibilities of John Bull, albeit they had very little to do with it, which they try to forget mid the crash of Jullien's trombones and cornet-pistons. But beelde his usual fascination armory of quadrilles, waltzes and galopades, he has brought forward this year a bright particular vocal star, of the utmost brilliancy. If the new York Academy of Music could cally get such an one, what a Godeend it would be to the empressante thereof! Hadame Gassier, a Spanish woman, is the magnet just new of musical London, and the way she dashes through the complicated masso of the most bewildering forfur, though stopping here and there in pure wantonness, to call a whole bouquet of dazzling notes, is, as they say out West, a caution. If jullien knows what he is about, and there is a strong probability he does—witness his ascendancy over London for so many years—he had better recure La Gassier; secure her tight against all competitors, and carry her over to "old Virginupy's shore," and along the const up. He would be sure to make his "tarnal fortin," and La Gassier's in the bargain.

Jenny Lind has come back to the musical world as a concert singer. Whether her metits have been overrated, or her Jewish name of Goldamit has destroyed all Illusion, I don't know, but she has made no sensation whatever. The fact is the ostentations parade of her charities have lost their effect since the beautiful advent of a grouine and not a theatrical sangel. Miss Nightingale, a real one, has eclipsed all oth

In my last communication to you, I advised you of the gloomy aspect of positical affairs in this city, and of the shoulle attitude of Traconis and Gaza, the two chiefs contending for the control of the garrison here.

Things continued in the same unsettled state until within a few days ago, when Traconis yielded to orders from the supreme government, and yesterday he embarked his troops in cances and banges for Pueblo Viejo. This day Gaza's men are in possession of the garrison and all the public editors. Traconis took French leave of us last night, having left the Town Major and his staff to turn over the city to Gazza. connected with this movement, contact and participation in the deliberations of the convention.

We also request that you will take such early action as will insure the appointment of a full delegation from your city.

HORACE I. NENT.

JAMES I NOWELL,

JAMES H. GRANT,

JAMES H. GRANT,

DAVID J. BURN,

This circular has been sent to all the prominent points and persons in the South and Southwestern States, as far as the information of the committee would enable them to extend the invitation.

We are requested to call upon the papers in the eliates and in our own State to give the utmost publicity to this circular. All cities, towns and counties in these States are requested to send delegations, relying upon a cordial reception, sithough, perchance, a special circular should not reach them.

The year has been distinguished by a remarks by fast pacing match, the quickst on record. The race was between Pocahontas and Hero, mile heats to wagons. Only one heat took place, Pocahontas performing the mile in 2:17½—Hero distanced. No new pacers of any note have made their appearance during the year. One, however, balling from Hudson, was matched against Hero. His country friends were very sanguine, and it was whispered that he had paced a mile in private in 2:12. However that might have been, he certainly did not come up to the expectations of his friends, and was badly beaten by Hero, in 2:20.

In running, we have very little to speak of, so far as this vicinity is concerned; but the usual amount has taken in the South and Southwest, and some capital time has been made; in fact, the very best ever made in that has been made; in fact, the very best ever made in that part of the country. The great match of Lexington egainst time—te run four miles under 7:25—the time made by Lecomte when he beat Lexington the year previous—was accomplished in 7:1934 over the Metairte Course, New Orleans. The Metairte Course is somewhat pounds less weight than was carried by his renowned sire, Boston, in his celebrated race with Fashion, in 1842. In a subsequent race over the Metalrie source, Lexington beat Lecomte in less than 7:20, and this seemed to settle the question as to which was the fastest horse. Then followed the splendid affair between Brown Dick and Arrow—three mile heats—in which Arrow was beaten. Then a heat, in a mile race, was run by Henry Perritt, in 1:42, which is the quickest mile time recorded. We regret to bearn that this splendid horse has since died. All this fast running time has been made on the Metalris course, the reason for which has been assigned above, viz.: the shortness of the ceurse and light weights. The races enumerated above took place at the spring meeting. During the fall meeting nothing the spring meeting. During the fall meeting nothing worthy of special notice took place, further than that Lecomte at three mile heats.

From some cause not well understood, the races were poorly attended in all sections of the South and West. This seems somewhat singular; for the people of those latitudes have been rather remarkable for their pre-

This seems somewhat singular; for the people of those latitudes have been rather remarkable for their predifications for the turf. The sauces which have contributed to deter attendance on the turf may, however, be only temporary in their character; and we should not be surprised to hear of the couning spring meeting being better attended than over.

We may here observe that running is confined principally to the Southern States, and trotting to the Northern ones. In this section of the country it is found necessary to combine speed with utility, and therefore the trotting horse is more in favor, as he can be used for the every day purposes of life. When we had a surplus of cheap labor in the North, it was no uncommon thing to see large study of blood horses, and running was patronized by our most influential citizens. But since that time the hereiing of racing stock has been gradually declining, until very tew horses reserved especially for running can be found. If our citizens wish to indulge in amusements of this kind they must rely upon Southern stables for the means of gratifying it. The opinion seems generally to prevait that we shall have but little more racing north of Virginia, where the race horse may yet flourish for some time to come.

He shartly after called upon a jeweller in Williamsburg, and obtained a lockst and casin, under the per ence that his mother wanted to see them with a view of purchasing. The day sollowing he got five handeous pockst knives from a dealer in the same place, to show his father, who, he said, wanted to buy them for New Year's presents. He also obtained eight similar knives upon like representations from a store in avenus B, besides a military scarf and numerous other articles from different merchants. A few nights since he gained admission to a ball at the Chinese Assembly Rooms, and there became enamored with a young miss, living at No. 33 Breadway, whom, when the hall broke up, he accompanied home; previous to which, however, he came the "confidence game" over the ticketman, and got a good supper for himself and lady for nothing. On his way home with her he presented the locket and chain which he had obtained at Williamsburg to the young lady, and promised to call upon her soon, and would probably have done as had not his operations become known and his arrest effected. He centessed his misdeeds, and gave up the property, but nevertheiess was looked up by Justhee Wood. He, once before, ran away from his home, and was with the soldiers on Governor's Island.

Persa MINTARD—A CHID POWONED BY ITS MOTHER.—Co-roner Withelm was yesterday called to the house No. 68 West Twenty-seventh street, to hold an inquest upon the body of an infant son of Mrs. Mary Glass, and the jury rendered a verdict of "Death by congestion of the brain, the result of a dose of laudanum administered hy its mother, she being ignorant of its poisonous effects." It appears that Mrs. Glass had occasion to leave the liouse for two or three hours on Saturday morning, and in order to make her in an eleop during her absence, gave him seven for eight drops of laudanum, not being aware that that quantity would injure him. On her return she found him stupid, and being unable to wake him she sent for a physician, whose efforts also proved fruitless and death ensued in the course of the night.

To Parabe H. Frence, Feq., &c., &c., —
Sin.—Sa the twenty-fourth day of December, instant, a complaint, under oath, was made at this office that you, together with other persons, had, in this district, begun, set on foot, provided and prepared the means for a military expedition or emerprise, to be carried on from this country against the Territory of the Republic of Nicarana, with whom the United States are at peace; the facts ocharged amounting to an offence against the laws of the United States, a Commissioner of the United States thereups is send his warrant for the arrest of all parties therein smed, with the exception of yourself. I deem it my duty mov to state to you the reasons for the delay in the execution of the warrant—

On the twenty-second inst. I had an interview with you, in which I stated to you the Information I had received in relation to the proposed departure of large bodies of men in the steamer Northern Light, on the twenty fourth inst., for the purpose of invading the Territory of Nicarana. You declaimed any knowledge of any such movement.

In this interview you claimed to be in the United inct., for the purpose of invading the recritory of Mearagaa. You disclaimed any knowledge of any such movement.

In this interview you claimed to be in the United States in a diplomatic character. The government of the United States has at all times conformed to the practice of the law of outlons, and I felt satisfied that the President would extend to any person claiming that relation such courtesy as in his judgment comported with the dignity of the United States.

From the correspondence, copies of which have been since delivered to you, it appears that you have no right as an accredited Minister—your position is "simply that of a person coming to this conting to present himself as such, and not received by reason of its falling to appear that he represents any lawful government." The letter of the Attorney General further adds. "that under such circumstances any diplomatic privilege awarded to you is of mere transit and of our trees, and not of right, and that courtesy would be withdrawn from you so soon as there should be cause to believe that you are corgared in, or contemplated any act not consistent with the laws, the peace, or the public honor of the United States."

Fluving advised the Attorney General of the charge against you, and of the process issued fluctors. I am now authorized to say that the President, proceeding in the spirit of the fullest consideration for the diplomatic character, desires ne to notify rou of the present charge, and that no process will be served upon you, provided you shall not become chargeable with any surther officince, and shall depart from the country within a reasonable time.

By the constitution of the United States, a privilege of examption from arrest is awarded to Senators and Representatives. It extends to them the privilege of going to and returning from Congress. Similar exemptions are accorded to members of Legislatures. Witnesses, under certain circumstances, are eventy from arrest. But in all these cases, the exemption is strictly construct by our courts.

all these cases, the exemption is strictly construct by our courts.

Whilst it is proper that the agents of the people and witnessee shall be properly protected, it is also just that citizens having claims shall not be deprived of their legal rights by the improper exercise of this exemption. A WHITE WOMAN AND HITE BLACK HUSBAND, .- Paring the past term of the Court of General Sessions, a negro, the past term of the Court of General Sessions, a negro, named James Thempson, was tried on an indictment for bigsmy, in taking a white woman, named Elien Vaughan, as his "better half," having a wife, who is a colored woman, still living, and sy whom he had three children. The second murriage ceremony was performed by a clergyman of the Episcopal church at a house in Bean street, on the 10th of September last, after Thompson moved to Connectiout with his white wife, leaving his legal wife and children here to take eare of themselves. On the trial of the case the colored wife testified that, having learned that her husband intended to marry Missyughan, she made it her brainess to inform her that she was Thompson's wife and the mother of three children by him, to which Miss Vaughan replied that she did not care, and would have him any how. Shortly after this conversation the second marriage took place. Thompson was convicted and sentenced to the state prison for three years and four months. The woman was then placed on trial for felonicusty internarrying with James Thompson, the husband of Elizaboth Thompson, knowing at the time that his wife was will living. She was convicted of the offence, and on Saturday was sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of sixy days. She is about Ze years of age, and quite a pretty looking woman.
